DENTAL HEALTH

Dear Neighbor:

For twenty-four years, you have visited our office for quality dental care. You may be assured that for the next twenty-four years, you will continue to receive the same service.

One aspect of our care has been the use of a non-surgical therapy to treat periodontal diseases.

The primary cause of gum disease is the accumulation of masses of bacteria (plaque) under the gumline. By attacking specific disease-associated bacteria, we can bring the gum infection under control. With regular visits, we can monitor and maintain the dental health our patients achieve.

If you have inflamed, swollen, bleeding gums or loose teeth; if you have been told you need gum surgery and want a second opinion; or if you have had surgery and want to prevent reinfection ... we invite you to investigate our new therapy program.
